

ENGEL OLGA

Olga Engel is a product and interior designer who harmoniously blends luxury and minimalism, functionality and ergonomics, with a light mood and a touch of irony.

She graduated from the Moscow Textile Academy, one of the leading design universities in Russia, in interior design from Moscow's "Details" School of Design, and from London's KLC School of Design. Her experience at the studio of renowned designer Mark Humphrey was decisive in developing her style and creations.

Design for Olga is always a personal story that involves the unique charm of each object and of the space itself. She pays special attention to the proportions, balance, quality, and philosophy at the heart of her creations: "I put a sign of equality between the words "beauty" and "harmony". An object can only be beautiful if it is filled with content, and expresses a strong idea or an emotion".
