

Interior designer Emma Donnersberg has long been fascinated with fungi. The curvaceous crop forms part of her 'Organika' collection, mushroom-inspired furniture made from bronze and finely engraved with spores and gills. With their undulating profiles and tactile quality, the tables encapsulate Emma's penchant for sculptural design that doesn't take itself too seriously. Visit edonnersberg.com →